Unless accidents or sickness keep him out of the game he looks like a leader by a big margin at the end of the season. With a gain of but two points during the week, Walker, once head of the list, will have to hook up with some good teammate to hold second place. Downing, Hehir and Hopper are pushing up strong.

mate to hold second place. Downing, Hehir and Hopper are pushing up strong. With the front markers, Carslake is climbing, and thanks to their handicaps, the meal ticket bunch is getting in the money. The fans are glad to see them at that.

It looks as if Walker will hook up with Sax Williams for a team mate, and his choice is a good one. Sax is one of the strongest riders on the track and he has a jump to round the field as well. With Williams, Walker will be able to make the Lawson combination go some.

Last Friday night Lawson won the two-mile western championship event, and it looked as if Hehir was pulling the Lawson-Pye team. Inasmuch as the rules prohibit combinations of more than two men, and as Pye seems sufficient to take Lawson, it is unfair to the other riders. Some activity on the part of the officials to keep the combinations down to two men in the open races would be appreciated by the fans.

finals in the roping contest today on the ground that it was too cruel to the steers, a number having been badly injured.

Miss Nicholson won the woman's relay race, getting eight firsts out of nine in the three days' races.

In the final riding bucking contest Harry Brennan won second, Samuel Scoville third and Ed McNurlin fourth. Richard Stanley of Oregon, last year's champion, got sixth place.

This year's celebration drew people from all over the west and from many parts of the east.

Shift No Good.

"That shift they talk so much about will be ineffective against Langford and you can bet all you want on that," said Woodman, in talking to McIntosh when the pair got into an argument over the two middleweights in New York the other day.

"Langford will tie Ketchel up into bow knots and then batter him to the floor with his wicked punches if Stanley attempts to use the shift. Only one man in the game ever possessed the knack of applying the shift. That was Fitzsimmons. I am sorry that Ketchel will not come to make the overflow will be stabled at the fair soriginally agreed, but since he wants longer time, I guess it is up to us to wait. It will be a grand fight when it comes off, and Langford will be the vanner."

McIntosh declares he would like that match and the Jeffries-Johnson affair for a double wind-up over in England. The Australian fight promoter is hopeful of landing the big go, for he says he will outbid any promoter in the field. If successful in landing it, it will be pulled off in England.
